

Entomology Quality Control Technician

Biobee USA is a subsidiary of BioBee Sde Eliyahu Ltd, one of the global leaders in bio-controls. BioBee produces beneficial mites, insects, and nematodes as part of IPM programs for conventional and organic farming. BioBee is known for its high-quality product portfolio and its professional technical team.

BioBee USA is looking for an Entomology Quality Control Technician for its logistic center in Rahway, NJ

Option for a part-time job

Job Description

- You will count and analyze bioassays on beneficial insects and nematodes according to Company's protocols.
- You will report and alert immediately on any discrepancy or problem
- You will also produce a critical data that supports ongoing operations and product development.
- You will conduct trials as required
- This role requires that you are willing and able to work with live insects and nematodes.
- You will take care of customers' complaints
- You will be part of the worldwide QC and QA of BioBee.
- You will be a member of the team which develops new products.
- You will assist the warehouse team as necessary.
- Performs other duties as assigned by the customer service team leader and/or manager.

Requirements

- Minimum BS degree in entomology, biology, or related fields with a minimum of one year of experience in academic or industrial laboratory environment, or equivalent combination of education and experience.
- Experience with the major insect and nematode pests of agricultural crops is a plus.
- Your keen attention to detail and excellent organizational & record keeping abilities will be critical as you archive information properly (including notebook keeping, shared spreadsheets, and any other relevant database).
- Your unwavering commitment to compliance will be evident as you follow all quality control protocols.
- Your ability and motivation to learn new techniques will be a valued asset as you work independently and as part of the international quality control team.
- You work independently with minimum supervision.
- You have high computer proficiency (Word, Excel, and PowerPoint) and solid verbal and written communication skills, which will serve you well as you prepare adequate reports and communicate with the other team's members.

We offer

- A challenging job with a high degree of independence and creativity in a dynamic, innovative, growing, and global company.
- A challenging job in the biocontrol developing industry.
- Interaction with BioBee global quality control and R&D team

Compensation: Commensurate with experience

Candidate must have the required permits to work in the US.

Please apply with a cover letter and resume to hr@biobee.us If you are interested.

BioBee USA is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Qualified applicants will be considered without regard to race, color, religion, gender, national origin, age, sexual orientation, marital or veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status. <https://www.dol.gov/ofccp/regs/compliance/posters/pdf/eeopost.pdf>